In my area for decades the 5.0 V8 is considered junk compared to the 5.7 or even the 4.3 V6. Why is that? I went to a Community College in 99 starting a ASE Training program, but it was all PC and no wrench turning so I decided on a different career path. In that class my hatred for the 305 was instilled by the instructors and the other students, many nearly finished with the year long program.
